From One Day To The Other

TODAY.

So here hath been dawning
Another blue day;
Think will thou let it
Slip useless away?

Out of Maturity
Into Eternity
At night will return.

Behold it aforesaid,
No eye ever did;
So soon it is hid.
From all eyes is hid.

Here hath been dawning
Another blue day;
Think will thou let it
Slip useless away?
—Thomas Carlyle.

If one thousand men gaze at a garden of flowers, fifty of them will see the colors falsely. If one thousand women view them, nine hundred and ninety-nine will see the colors correctly, says the Century Magazine.

A little girl came home from church the other day, and was asked what the minister's text was. "Don't be afraid and I will get you a bed quilt," was the astonishing answer.
Investigation proved that the central thought of the sermon had been "Fear not, and I will send you a comforter."

Mrs. Goodley—"Gracious! Just listen to that program!" I'm positive he's swearing. Evidently he's misread his location.
Mr. Goodley—"No; I think it was his train."

WOMEN ARE TO BIT IN THE FINCH PARLIAMENT.

The new Finnish legislature, which will in the future be composed of one house only, meets at Helsinki, this month. Its session will mark in the world's political history an exceptional step, in this legislature, the women will for the first time in the world's history, appear as representatives, on an absolute and perfect equality, with men. Of the 199 legislators 19 are women.
Great preparations have been made to celebrate this event in Finland's history. All the civic societies and various clubs will parade and welcome the fatherland's newly elected representatives, there will be addresses and speeches and the streets of this, the most northern capital on earth, will be carpeted with flowers.

In the last couple of years the senate of Finland have sent educated men and women through the world to study the manners and customs of the different nations. Some of them spent months in the United States. From the report of their study and observation, a special committee of the House of Representatives evolved the laws which govern Finland now.

The women in the legislature will not form a group, nor follow a special programme.
"She can scarcely have any disagreements with the men, for we know they will never oppose our demands in regard to our political rights. We do not aim to make the women like the men; all we want is to make them reliable wives," said one of them in a recent interview.
We trust that the powers that be in Finland will soon realize the fact that it is not by thrusting herself into political life that a woman is trained to become "a reliable wife" or mother, or even a good woman. Woman's sphere is not public life, and her influence may be as far-reaching though less conspicuously exercised. If women wish to influence political affairs, let her accomplish this through husband or brother.
Her kingdom should be her home, and there she is not merely one of many legislators, but a queen. Let us hope that Finland will be the last and only nation where women will act as legislators.

SOCIAL.

The golf competition for the ladies' cup will begin today. Miss Harris and Miss Perkins will be the hostesses at the tea which will be served at the club house.
Miss Ashwell of the attorney general's department, is going to visit her former home in Stratford, Ontario.
Miss Effie Lockhart, of the government office, is leaving for a six month visit through the Western States.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Miss Jessie Grant will receive for the first time on Thursday afternoon at 438 Seventh street.

Banquet to Lieut. Col. Evans

another wire from Capt. Reid here that he personally had accepted the option and would be responsible.

He paid a tribute to the rifle association, the great silent reserve force of our defence. Since the government had permitted the formation of these associations 130 had been formed in the west with a membership of 7,000 men who were zealously training in the essential of war, that of being a good shot. The militia were not looking for trouble, but it was necessary to be prepared and have the man behind the gun. This lesson had been well learned by us in the Boer war.

In conclusion Col. Evans spoke in splendid terms of the new B. O. C. of the new military district, Col. Steele, and expressed his regret at severing his official connection with the militia in Alberta. He had a good word too, for Major McDermott of the R. C. M. R. He hoped to come back once like Oliver Twist, and would cherish the fondest memories of Alberta.

Associated with this toast were the names of Col. Edwards and Col. McDonald. The latter was unable to remain, however. Col. Edwards in a few minutes of his address to the good work of the rifle association in training to shoot before drilling. He hoped that another rifle association would be formed preparatory to the formation of the infantry regiment now under way. We were all proud of the army and navy for it belonged to the empire.

MONDAY'S SMALL VOTE.

Out of a possible $200 only 125 votes were polled Monday on city by-laws authorizing expenditures aggregating $200,000. Whatever may have been the cause, the smallness of the vote is regrettable. The addition of a quarter of a million dollars to the debt of the city is a matter of more than trifling importance, and it is not to be construed as a sign of healthy public interest that only seventy voters visited the booth to express their opinions on this large addition to the city's indebtedness.

The incident is of less consequence than the tendency it may indicate. Communities, like individuals, fall into habits, and into no habit more readily than that of "letting things go." And when the citizens of a rapidly growing city "let things go" "things" in general are apt to "go" pretty badly. Normally a city is governed by officials along lines desired by the citizens, but when the citizens express no view, clear opinions as to what they desire the officials are thrown upon their own resources. They must either exercise their own initiative or do nothing, and in either event the result is not likely to be satisfactory. The well-governed city is that whose citizens take a lively interest in municipal affairs, and no other city is likely to be well governed. It is to be hoped that the small vote of Monday was merely an incident, and not an indication of waning public interest in our city's business.

Money by-laws in particular are worthy the serious attention of every citizen, for they affect him very directly, and very vitally. Edmonton had before the passing of these by-laws a substantial debt of $1,185,000, exclusive of indebtedness incurred for local improvements. While not unduly large on an assessment of over $17,000,000, the burden is sufficiently heavy to warrant very careful consideration of all proposals to increase it. Yet it is certain that in future it must be increased, and very largely increased. Our public services will require large and frequent extensions, and however profitable these enterprises may be and may be expected to be, the extensions can only be made by adding to our indebtedness. That we may be able to make such additions without unduly burdening the taxpayer or paralyzing our financial ability, it is necessary that discrimination be exercised between expenditures which are necessary and expenses which can be avoided.

It is profitable, too, to remember that municipal enterprises can be financed more easily and cheaply at certain times than at others, and that the present is not one of the particularly favorable times. A few days ago President Wilkie of the Imperial Bank counselled municipalities generally to put off large expenditures at present unless they had already provided for the funds. The city of Montreal considered the advice good and has postponed raising a $2,000,000 loan until a more favorable season. The reason is simply that the demand for money for investment in industrial and commercial enterprises exceeds all precedent, and the city which wants to borrow money must bid against the promoters of such enterprises in the money markets. This means that to get the money the city must pay a much higher rate of interest than it would for purposes for business investment are fewer. And occasionally it means that the city cannot secure the money at all. The spectacle is by no means so rare as it ought to be, of a city which has disregarded the fluctuations of the money market finding itself balked at the threshold of some great and needed enterprise, simply because it may buy its loan. And Edmonton ratepayers do not have to travel far backward in memory to recall a time when the city, with a bundle of unpaid debentures in the safe, was paying interest on an overdraft of no small proportions at the bank. Edmonton can afford neither to be balked when enterprises are needed, nor to suffer the leakage of untimely financing.

TWO WAYS.

The strike of the Montreal longshoremen has collapsed, and in its collapse affords an object lesson of the foolishness of ignoring the law and disregarding public opinion in a labor dispute. When the trouble first arose the men refused to ask for the application of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Shipping Federation offered them an advance of $1.2 cents per hour—half the amount asked for—the balance to be left to the decision of the Board of Investigation. The men refused this compromise, and went out on strike. The Federation began to secure new men, and in eight days the strikers returned to work, announcing their belated intention of applying for the appointment of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation. They then occupied the position they could formerly have taken, and presumably were cut the eight days' pay. Their experience should go far to discourage attempts to disregard the law and to encourage the prompt application for investigation of grievances.

On the other hand in just three days arbitration based upon the Lemoine Act settled satisfactorily to both parties a two-year-old dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and its machinists. The dispute which offered an ever-present opportunity for trouble, and which was no nearer solution when the Board took it up than it was two years ago. Presumably, had the Act been in force two years ago, the dispute would have been promptly settled and long since forgotten.

The Lethbridge coal miners, though authorized to strike by their union, have decided not to do so, and yesterday applied for investigation of their trouble with the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, under the Industrial Disputes Act. This surely is a reasonable and hopeful course, and judging from the rest it is a pretty safe guess that whatever the trouble is, it will be settled amicably, and an industrial war averted. The Industrial Disputes Act is already known by its good works, and continues daily to refute the gloomy forebodings of its enemies, who denounced it as an impotent measure and doomed to failure. These prophecies of misfortune have been speedily dispelled by the readiness with which employers and employees generally have accepted the means offered for peaceable settlement of their differences, and the effective and satisfactory manner in which the difference have been settled.

King Haakon Being Well Received.—The King and Queen of Norway today passed off without any untoward incident. The appearance of the sovereign on the streets with a mounted escort created much popular enthusiasm.

A MOTHER'S STORY

New Zan-Buk Brevity's Reading to Her Home

Mrs. J. J. Wilson, of 33 Wilkes Avenue, Toronto, tells mothers of the benefits her baby has derived from her habit of buying a box of Zan-Buk, the great healing balm, every day. She says: "My little girl, five years old, had an ailment on her knee. The knee was very much swollen and inflamed, and very painful. We put on some Zan-Buk and it was gone in a few days. I have also used it for cuts and bruises sustained by both my children, and it is wonderful how quickly it gave the little ones relief. Zan-Buk is so pure that a mother need not fear using it even on very young children. My husband had his eye badly burned with hot iron. The eye was swollen and the agony was terrible. We applied Zan-Buk and the pain was quickly relieved. In three days the eye was quite cured. We have also used it for a burn on my arm, and I believe it to be the finest household balm obtainable. Zan-Buk is purely herbal, and may be used by mothers even for skin of children of very tender years. It cures rashes, itching, baby's skin troubles, chafing, etc. It also cures eczema, itch, psoriasis, blood poison, scalp sores, sore feet, sore nipples, sore, swollen, chronic wounds, and innumerable other various ailments, etc. For prices for wholesale and retail, see box of Zan-Buk. ## NEW REGULATION OF COAL LANDS

REGINA.

Large crowds last evening gazed interestedly at the only Chinese baby in the city, the child of a very poor man which was at home in the window of Wright Brothers' store.

At a meeting of the Regina School Board, held last evening, the amount of $20,000 was added to the budget for the year 1907-8. Considering the price of coal and the cost of the school year, it is not surprising that the board should have decided on such a large sum.

Word has been received from Chicago that Dr. M. B. Seymour, provincial medical health officer, is considerably improved as a result of his treatment in the hospital there, and will be able to return to Regina this week.

Judd Buchanan, son of the Rev. T. C. Buchanan, formerly Methodist minister here, is in town en route west to Edmonton. He has spent the past year in Toronto, where he is taking an arts course in the university.

A man named Barkwell, a well-to-do farmer, reported before Magistrate McClelland and was fined $50 and costs. The fine appeared a heavy one, but the magistrate in delivering sentence pointed out that this man came to Regina to look after his property which is dangerously ill at the hospital, and instead of giving her the care which she should have, he has been in time in drinking and carousing.

BATTLEFORD.

On Sunday afternoon the train from North Battleford stopped just inside the town limits to pick up a passenger in one of the cars to be extinguished. The car was loaded with settlers' effects.

While Mrs. Tall, wife of a home-steader, was being brought to the hospital for medical treatment, she expired in the wagon. Her son, who was at present undergoing an operation necessitated by him having had his leg frozen last winter.

The erection of a number of new residences is contemplated in the near future by several local firms. With the commencement of the work on the new public buildings, Battleford will be more than usually busy in the building line.

One of the most important meetings for some time in the history of Battleford was held on Monday evening, when it was decided to proceed with the formation of a local company to erect a flour mill and to commence work at $40,000 and to complete the same in about six months.

On Tuesday last week Mr. Rapsom, who has a homestead in the Rielton Creek district, was found on the trail near his home in a state of collapse. He was brought to the hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness. Deceased was an ordained Methodist minister, and came here from Sibleford last fall. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and four children in rather straitened circumstances.

PENBINA.

Mr. Chas. Kinsella and family are again on their homestead after a winter spent the winter at the mill on section 9.

New settlers are arriving here daily now, and all the available quarters are taken. Of late a great many have been settling on old numbered quarters, as the railroad owns no land about here.

Mr. Joe Brickman and Teddy Connor, who have been with the mill all the last Monday, are now on their steers at Vermilion. They will be back early in July to operate Mr. Brickman's planer.

Last Saturday night a football club was organized, which is expected to do great business in the local market. The club is composed of the following: Kicker, Edson, Clyde and other well-known players.

Take notice. The president is Harold Golder, and the secretary, treasurer, A. B. Brown.

Raffling timber down the turbulent waters of the Pembina has been a great success. Mr. Alf. Clarke, who has been with the mill all the last Monday, is now on his steers at Vermilion. They will be back early in July to operate Mr. Brickman's planer.

SAKATON.

Active work is under way for the improvement of the river by the provincial department of public works. George H. Shaw, traffic manager of the C.N.R., who is the city representative, is in the city recently. Mr. Shaw is well pleased with the conditions and outlook of affairs locally with his company.

Inquiries made of farmers living on all sides of Sakaton and for miles around, have shown that the season's crop outlook.

Things have been changed of late. A car of binders shipped from Toronto on Monday, May 13, reached here just a week later. The shipment was for the local agency of the Messrs. Harris Co.

Plans for launching Sakaton's first summer fair were showed well along at the joint meeting of the agricultural society and board of trade representatives, yesterday afternoon.

The fair will be held early in August. Temporary buildings are to be put up at the city park for about $10,000. The fair will be hung up in prizes and prizes.

MOOSE JAW.

A Hitchcock has just made an inspection of fifteen valuable steam and road trucks for the local market.

A new mill and road factory, a wholesale lumber yard, and a wholesale fruit and produce store have secured sites here after investigating the various provincial centres and will build at once.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

Mr. Drysdale has removed with his family to East Clover Bar.

Mrs. Hyatt, provincial organizer of the W.C.T.U., is in the Fort in the interest of temperance work.

A road is being opened up by the government from the bridge to the west of the town. It is superintended by the work.

Mr. Dave Simmons returned last week from his trip to British Columbia. We regret to hear that Mr. Simmons has decided to dispose of his business here, as he is considered one of the old timers, but owing to the illness of his son, Mr. Simmons, he thinks a change of climate will be for the best.

Victoria Day, although now a thing of the past, will not soon be forgotten. The thronging of people to the city to the Fort to celebrate it. The weather was perfect and the day was a most successful one. The program was most satisfactory and the refreshment booths were literally overflowing with food.

Government Will Retain Control of Them. They May Only be Leased.

A copy of the order in council, signed by the minister of the interior, in relation to the disposal of coal mining rights in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the Dominion government from the province of British Columbia in 1904 has been received at the Dominion Lands Office in Edmonton. The terms of the order become operative on June 15th next.

Leasehold Limited to 2,500 Acres.
By the order the coal mining rights are declared to be the property of the Crown, and may be leased at the rate of $100 per acre per annum payable yearly in advance, but no applicant shall be allowed to lease more than 2,500 acres. The tract applied for shall not exceed four miles in its greatest dimensions.

Priority of Application.
Application may be made to any agent of the Dominion Lands Office in the tract in which the rights are applied for, and priority of application is determined by the date of receipt of application in the office of the land agent of the district.

Leaseholds in Unsurveyed Territory.
In case the mining rights are situated in unsurveyed territory the applicant shall be required to obtain the consent of the land agent of the district or the land agent of the nearest surveying station, and shall be accompanied by a plan of the tract.

The tract must be rectangular in form, the length not to exceed four miles, and the width not to exceed two miles. The tract must be situated in the same section of the township, and the boundaries thereof shall run due north and south and east and west.

Data Must be Furnished.
The application must have evidence to show:
1. That the tract has been defined by planting a wooden post four feet high at the corners of the tract. The post shall indicate the name of the applicant, the date of location and the north and south direction of the boundaries of the tract.

In addition a written or printed notice shall be posted at a conspicuous place on the tract in the presence of the applicant to apply within 30 days from the date of this notice, or a lease of the coal mining rights under the said order.

Alternative Procedure.
If the applicant wishes to follow the coal seam he may have discovered, instead of following the procedure in the preceding paragraph, application may be made for a lease of the mining rights under the tract along such seam, the total length of which shall not exceed 2,120 feet, and the length not to exceed four times the breadth. Posts shall be erected with data similar to that contained in the foregoing paragraph.

Applications Filed in 30 Days.
Applications for individual coal mining rights must be filed with the Dominion Lands office within 30 days from the date of location, or it will not be considered.

Lease Holds on Hudson's Bay Land.
As soon as the survey of the coal seam has been confirmed, all leaseholds shall be made to conform to the Dominion Lands system of survey and the substitution of new leases describing tract by sections and quarter sections. Any leasehold found to be in violation of the Hudson's Bay property can be withdrawn at once from the lease without compensation as soon as the survey of the township in which the leasehold is situated is confirmed.

Surface Rights at $10 an Acre.
The lease shall include mining rights only, but the lessee may acquire surface area necessary for the operation of a mine at the rate of $10 per acre.

Operate or Surrender.
The lessee shall commence operations on his leasehold within one year from the date upon which he was notified by the Department of the Interior to do so, and shall produce a specified quantity of coal per year. Such notification shall not be given until at least a year from the date of the lease and shall specify the quantity of coal which the lessee is required to produce in the first month, which quantity may be increased from time to time. In no case shall the maximum quantity exceed ten tons per acre per annum.

If the lessee is not complied with the lease shall be cancelled. No Transfer Without Consent.
The lease is not permitted to be assigned, transferred or sublet the rights of his lease without the consent of the department.

Chap Coal Assured for Better.
All leases are subject to the terms that the actual settler shall be entitled to buy coal at the pit's mouth, what they require for their own use, and exclusively at a price that shall not exceed $10 a ton.

Free $5,000 Accompany each Application.
A fee of $5,000 accompany each application for a lease and a royalty of five cents per acre per annum will be levied and collected on the output of the mine.

Beers Statements of Output.
It shall be necessary to furnish sworn statements of the output of the mine to the nearest agent of the Dominion Lands. In case the royalty is not paid within the month of the statement not furnished within 30 days from a request from the department, the agent of Dominion Lands shall forthwith cancel the lease or impose a fine at the discretion of the minister.

Disputes as to Surface Rights.
In the event of a disagreement between the lessee of the coal mining rights and the holder of the surface rights as to the price to be paid and the area required for the operation of a mine, provision is made for a board of two arbitrators, one representing each party. If the board is unable of the parties refuse to appoint an arbitrator after due notice to do so, the agent of Dominion Lands in the district in which the leasehold is situated, shall appoint two arbitrators, who in the event of a disagreement shall nominate a third and the judgment of the three arbitrators shall be final. In determining the value of the coal no estimate shall be taken of the other minerals supposed to be there.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON

Over Ten Per Cent. is the Yearly Yield in Ten Years from an Investment in its Shares—A Successful Story—Alive to Commercial Needs, It Steers a Safe Course—Nearly One Hundred Branches, but Capital is Conservative—Deposits Increased 279 Per Cent—Total Assets, 230 Per Cent.

The Bank of Hamilton is one of the Canadian institutions which belongs to the second division in point of years and capital, but which, in percentage of growth and success, is right in the first line. Its progress during the past ten years has been continuous. The results of an investment in its stock in 1897 and sold in 1906 is no remarkable as to point out the moral that for rich returns the man who has saved some money need not have recourse to speculative issues. The amount he would have received from an investment in Bank of Hamilton stock averages 10.30 per cent. per annum, collected from Messrs. A. E. Ames & Co.'s book, are:

Year.	Capital.	Reserve.	Profit and Dividend.	Dividend.	Total Assets.
1897.	1,250,000	750,000	21,000	934,000	6,837,000
1898.	1,425,000	775,000	27,000	1,188,000	7,084,000
1899.	1,425,000	1,000,000	11,000	1,100,000	8,271,000
1900.	1,725,000	1,250,000	12,000	1,387,000	10,000,000
1901.	1,925,000	1,500,000	47,000	1,660,000	11,550,000
1902.	2,000,000	1,600,000	44,000	1,818,000	14,184,000
1903.	2,000,000	1,700,000	70,000	1,870,000	15,865,000
1904.	2,250,000	2,000,000	62,000	1,962,000	17,978,000
1905.	2,475,000	2,241,000	250,000	2,146,000	20,910,000
1906.	2,475,000	2,470,000	110,000	2,315,000	24,360,000

paratively small beginnings has risen to an institution with no branches. It has obtained a widespread business with no great increase in capital. It is an example of the success which attends a bank that makes the ordinary commercial business of the Dominion its chief duty, avoiding the embrace of gigantic accounts, making heavy demands on its individual communities, both in Ontario, the Northwest and British Columbia. The principal figures for the past ten years, collected from Messrs. A. E. Ames & Co.'s book, are:

Year.	Capital.	Reserve.	Profit and Dividend.	Dividend.	Total Assets.
1897.	1,250,000	750,000	21,000	934,000	6,837,000
1898.	1,425,000	775,000	27,000	1,188,000	7,084,000
1899.	1,425,000	1,000,000	11,000	1,100,000	8,271,000
1900.	1,725,000	1,250,000	12,000	1,387,000	10,000,000

1902.	2,000,000	1,600,000	44,000	1,818,000	14,184,000
1903.	2,000,000	1,700,000	70,000	1,870,000	15,865,000
1904.	2,250,000	2,000,000	62,000	1,962,000	17,978,000
1905.	2,475,000	2,241,000	250,000	2,146,000	20,910,000
1906.	2,475,000	2,470,000	110,000	2,315,000	24,360,000

It will be seen by the above that during the ten years and six months the bank's Capital increased ..... 97 p.c.

Reserve ..... 240 p.c.
Circulation ..... 142 p.c.
Deposits ..... 279 p.c.
Total assets ..... 230 p.c.

During the ten years and six months the total amount transferred to the reserve fund was $1,747,894.

of which $916,362 was from premiums on new capital and $831,531 from the bank's own funds.

The total written off against bank premiums amount to $600,000, the bank standing at the end of November, 1906, at $9,914.

The bank had at the end of December last, 96 branches.

Increases in capital offered pro rata to old shareholders, were made as follows:—

1900-1	1901-2	1902-3	1903-4	1904-5	1905-6	1906-7
100-1	100-1	100-1	100-1	100-1	100-1	100-1

return on purchase price from average increase in selling price of shares, 3.53 per cent.; average return from sales of allotment of new stock, 1.13 per cent. Of course, an investor who held his investment prior to 1896, took up his subsequent allotments and still has them and his original holding, has received a somewhat greater advantage through the present market price being greater than the average which his allotments would have been sold.

The directors and officers of the bank are: Hon. Wm. Gilmour, president; J. Turnbull, vice-president; John Proctor, George Rutherford, Hon. J. S. Hendrie, Cyrus A. Blair, C. C. Dalton, J. Turnbull, general manager—Financial Post, Toronto.

With the Farmers

STORY OF A RUNAWAY STEER.

From the columns of the Toronto Telegram comes this amusing account of a runaway steer, whose adventures it is proved that not all the farmers are grazing on Alberta ranches.

The steer ran amok in Tottenham, quiet hamlet lying outside the larger district of Toronto, and the Telegram tells its story.

"A great black Galloway steer with eyes of blazing coals and fanks quivering, dashed like a black, fury through the heavily deserted streets of Tottenham. The populace sought hasty shelter and retired precipitately behind trees, fences and houses; but one lady, in her haste to escape, was caught by her dress on a nail in a fence and was frightened into hysterics as the roaring bull came over her. Fortunately, the crazed Galloway's viciousness was swayed up in flight. Moments that history will never pass—and then the great black body went hurtling by like a thunderbolt, and the lady, who was a lady, was rescued from her screaming peril.

The angry monster which evaded the tabor and the banderillo for eight tireless hours, was a first steer which had been penned by Mr. Jesse Dunn at the pens of the Goodwin buyers, near Adelaide's bridge. It was a Roman holiday but for the most practical purpose of adorning a menu.

For the Honor of Galloway.

After the big Galloway had seen two of his unsuspecting brothers fall before the public executioner, he felt that for the honor of his breed, he would put up a terrific fight for life. He saw an arrow from the bowstring he leaped from his executioner's arm, up, up, over a six-foot board fence, and landed away over beam and bar.

A life spoke, and the great beast, maddened by the bullets wound in his eye, plunged on, leaving a trail of blood behind.

The hillocks of refuse he took like a hunter's mount.

As nimble as the leader in a steeple chase, he picked his way up the gangway and lithely leaped ahead over the tops of a string of freight cars, making the fireless space between the cars as lightly as a kitten. With a roar and a thud he leaped into the air from the last car and took the road to freedom, bounding to the north like a frightened doe.

With Urchins in Train.

Through the streets of Riverdale, hastily cleared by the populace as if fearing the approach of Attila of the Huns, roared the quivering black beast, bounding along unperturbed by dust and blood-flecked foam, followed by as great an army of small boys as ever the pied piper drew out of Hamelin.

The pursuing company was headed by Mr. Jesse Dunn, the intrepid torador, and a mounted policeman.

The chase of the black fury, headed by the shouts of an army of small boys, carried on steadily along the road to Tottenham, and then along the Don mill road for a couple of miles, after which return was made south through the city.

His pursuers were close upon him when he came panting to the verge of Ashbridge's Bay.

He hesitated—he looked at the land and then at the water—then he looked at his pursuers came nearer, then he trusted the broad waters and swam slowly out, with Fisherman's Island in his eye.

Leaped into Lake.

Gaining the friendly shores of the island the semi-exhausted beast was again menaced by his implacable foe—the man—and in his desperate hope he trusted the great expanse of Lake Ontario and struck out for the kindlier southern shores beyond the water's rim.

The life-saving crew was called—Captain Macdonald and his men manœuvred the craft—and the dip of the oars felt on the water like the heart-beat of the black object ahead, pulling, pulling ahead for life. Stroked by strokes—dip by dip—breath by breath the parting black object was headed off one mile and a half from shore. Besh! a Jaso dove the water and he was led through the water back to the shore he had fled.

From 5 o'clock until 9 p. m., the Galloway had covered about ten miles on land and four miles by water in his desperate flight from the executioner. Bleeding from bullet wounds, hearing from exhaustion, pleading with eyes almost human, they felt him roped to the deck, awaiting the capital punishment of the condemned at the dawn.

The Inevitable.

Morning came—last Friday morning—and then a rifle bullet, more tortuous than those that had but wounded, completed the story of the loser of magnificent race for life.

HISTORY OF AGRICULTURE

Ottawa, Ont., May 28.—One of the most interesting addresses delivered at the annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada was the presidential address on Agricultural Progress, delivered by Dr. William Saunders, C. M. G., director of Experimental Farms.

History of Agriculture.

He gave a luminous and comprehensive resume of the history and gradual development of the science of agriculture through the centuries to the present day, when, as he declared, "agriculture has become an industry requiring in its practice greater skill, knowledge and ability than any other industry in the world."

The modern science of the relation of crops and of improved breadstuffs had its beginnings in the eighteenth century.

Tracing the development of agriculture in Great Britain that time until the present, he said that England, up to a 150 years ago, had not only fed all her population from her coral crops, but had also exported large quantities of grain.

England's Vast Imports.

New Zealand's wheat, shortly amounting to 200,000,000 bushels of imported wheat. Adverting to some of the basic scientific principles of modern agriculture, the speaker noted that the first condition necessary to plant growth in the soil was nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Need Soil to West.

An analysis of the soil of the Canadian West showed that it was from four to five times as rich in these elements as the soil of many European countries. He briefly touched on the various methods by which Nature repaired the loss of these elements through the taking of crops.

With regard to artificial attempts to restore the soil, he noted that the supply of fertilizers rich in nitrogen would be exhausted at the end of 20 years, if humanity had to depend on the present sources of supply. But science was devising new processes of manufacturing nitrogenous fertilizers from the air.

Production of Fertilizers.

Norway had recently solved the problem of cheap production of nitrates by an electrical process and the indications now pointed to the probability of its being the direct result of a nitrogen famine.

The best and most available fertilizer the farmer had was ordinary manure, of which Canada annually produced some hundred million tons, much of which was wasted.

Unprecedented Advances.

In conclusion, he touched on the benefits which had accrued to agriculture in Canada through the creation, in 1886, of a system of experimental farms. Since then agriculture in Canada, Canadian farmers were now as well informed and more generally progressive than those of any other country in the world. Canadian wheat was still relatively small, but enough was known to warrant the statement that Canada will shortly become one of the greatest food-exporting countries of the world.

DR. LONG AFTER TEDDY.

Calls Down President for Criticizing His Book.

Stamford, Conn., May 28.—Dr. Wm. J. Long today again public a letter sent by him to President Roosevelt. The letter says in part: "The issue between you and me is no longer one of animals but of men. It is not a matter of truth and personal honor. It is not a matter of magazine article you made deliberate attacks on me as well as on the public. You have used the enormous influence of your official position to discredit me as a man, to injure my reputation and to make a poor man even poorer by destroying if possible the sale and influence of my work."

"In my book I have given the results of long watching animals in the wilderness with no other object than to study their habits and so far as man and understand the mystery of their dumb lives. In every previous I have stated and I will repeat the statement, that every incident I have recorded was my own observation. It is true as far as an educated man can understand the truth. In your recent attack this is what you chiefly deny. I have spoken the truth and because of me of deliberate falsehood and misrepresentation. As president of the United States you have gone out of your way publicly to injure a private citizen who was attending strictly to his own business. As a man you have accused of falsehood another man, whose words are as high as your own. This is the whole issue between us."

"I most it squarely said so must you. If I have spoken falsely, if in any book or work of mine I have intentionally deceived any child or man, I am ready to retract every word and never to write another animal book. On the other hand, if I show to any distinguished person that you have accused me of anything which you have withdrawn your accusation and apology. As a man and as president, no other honorable course is open to you."

"You base your recent charges chiefly on the matter of a big white wolf killing a young caribou, by a hole in the chest, described by me in his 'Northern Trails.' You declared the thing to be a mathematical impossibility and declare by no possibility could a wolf perform the feat."

Dr. Long declares he knows from his own observation and from the testimony of Indians that wolves do sometimes kill in this way and there quotes the signed and witnessed statement of S. J. Hapgood, an educated Sioux Indian, who states he saw a hole which a wolf killed by tearing its "chest." Dr. Long says he himself saw a deer which was slain in this manner by a wolf and further cites that an Indian, Matty Mitchell, of Stony Bay, Newfoundland, declares that the big white wolf frequently kills caribou in this manner.

CONDUCTOR SENTENCED.

For Assault on Swedish Girl on His Train.

Ottawa, May 28.—William C. McComb, aged 38, a Pullman and tourist car conductor on the C. P. R., was sentenced at Penitentiary to 12 months to five years in the penitentiary for an assault committed on January 25 on Gerda Andersson, a young Swedish girl who was travelling with her train. She was unable to speak English, but the witness, who was acquainted with the Scandinavian tongue, learning of the case, wired word to Winnipeg for an interpreter and a physician, and the conductor was arrested at once. He had his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Doherty, of Winnipeg, who sent him back to Penitentiary for trial.

RUSHING WORKS

ONG.T.P. CONTRACT

Operations Are Being Delayed by the Scarcity of Men And Lack of Material.

Dr. Martin Murphy, government engineer on the G. T. P. from Saskatoon to Edmonton, returned several days ago to Saskatoon from the west where he had been in his professional capacity.

Dr. Murphy informed a Saskatoon Western reporter that the grading and bridge work of the company out there is being shored up with all possible speed. He says, however, that the season's operations have been curbed by backward weather and serious lack of material and men.

When asked if the grade would be finished from Saskatoon into Edmonton this year, the doctor replied that he did not consider it possible for the reasons above stated. He would say nothing about the line out of Saskatoon as it is out of his territory.
